JOBBER TELLS HOW TIN-PLATE COMBINE FORCED HIM TO QUIT

J. E. McFarlane, of Philadelphia, Says Oppression Was "Tyrannical."

YORK, May 14.-Tyrannica methods, alleged to have been practiced by the American Tin Plate Company, an adjunct of the United States Steel Corporation, were revealed at the hearing in the Government dissolution suit against the so-called steel trust before Examiner Henry T. Brown in the cus-toms house today.

Lyaminer Henry T. Brown in the customs house today.

James E. McFarlane, of Philadelphia, a tinplate jobber, was the first witness. He testified that he had formerly been a "dipper," a trade term designating one dealing in the roofing, but that he had been forced out of business by the American Tin Plate Company. In auswer to question by Judge Dickinson, special counsel for the Government. Mc. Farlane swore that the American Tin Plate Company refused to sell him plate unless he turned over all his personal brands. The witness declared that he got tired of this oppression, and went into the jobbing end of the business. Attorney Barton Carneau, associate counsel for the Government against the beef packers in Chicago joined the Government counsel in the case today.

Reid on Stand. Reid on Stand.

While on the stand late yesterday afternoon, Daniel G. Reid, organizer of ternoon, Daniel G. Reid, organizer of the American Tin Plate Company, told an interesting story of the rapid growth of the tinplate industry in the United States, from a small beginning, which he and W. B. Leeds, with the assistance of Judge W. H. Moore, had made in Indiana. This was in 1891, ten years before the Steel Corporation was formed. They had bought up about 200 mills, he said, before the merger with the Steel trust was effected.

This had been done mainly by an underwriting syndicate, of which he was a member. Mr. Reid added that it had been the custom of the tinplate makers to meet annually in Pittsburgh and discuss the scale of prices for the coming year. In the formation of the big tinplate company, which the Government is now attacking as one of the several trusts within the Steel trust, only two concerns of any considerable consequence had been left out, he stated; but these had been taken in later. Stock in the new concern was given to the owners of the purchased properties in most cases.

"Who were your associates in the un-

"Who were your associates in the un-derwriting syndicate or agreement?" he was asked.
"I don't know," the witness answered.

"I don't know," the witness answered.
"I only heard gossip about other men in the agreement. I heard, for example, that Marshall Field was one of them."
"Did not the American Tinplate Company enter into an agreement with manufacturers of tinplate machinery to buy their whole product, so that your competitors could not buy the necessary machinery?" Didn't Remember.

"I don't remember. My mind is a total blank on that subject." Under pressure from the Government's counsel Mr. Reid said that about the only living person who might know about this matter is W. T. Graham, now head of the American Car Company. "Did you and your associates go in-to the American Tinplate Company to monopolize the business?" asked Mr.

went into it to reduce overhead charges, lessen the cost of production, etc. We could buy what we needed in larger quantities and at a reduction, and thus save money." He added that there had always been strong convertible. thus save money." He added that there had always been strong competition since the organization of the American Tinplate Company, and that this was stronger now than ever.

Under further examination Mr. Reid said he thought a total stock issue of $46,000,000 had been made by the American Tin-plate Company when the merser was formed. ger was formed.

"If it took $36,000,000 to buy the other concerns, what became of the other $10,-000,000 of stock?" asked Judge Dickinson.

"I don't know," Mr. Reid replied, adding: "I suppose the underwriters and Byndicate managers got it."
"Did you get any of it?"
"Yes. I did."
"How much?"
"I don't remember."
The National Steel Company, now a part of the trust, had a contract, the witness explained, to supply the American Tin Plate Company with the steel it needed. That was the reason the Naneeded. That was the reason the Na-tional Steel Company had been organ-ized, he said.

Cites Prices.

From a little book of prices, which he produced from an inside pocket Mr. Reid showed that in 1897, the year before the American Tin Plate Company was formed, the price of full weight tin plate was $3.26. in 1898, the year the big company was organized, the price dropped to $2.99. In 1999 it was $4.41 per hundred pounds; 1900, $4.82, and in 1901, the was $4.25.

It was $4.35.

Mr. Reid could not remember that the American Tin Plate Company had contracts with makers of tinplate matracts with makers of tinplate machinery to buy all of their output.

In conclusions Mr. Reid said that he. Judge W. H. Moore, J. H. Moore, and W. B. Leeds, had directed all the negotiations which resulted in the merger of the American Tin Plate Company with the steel corporation, and they included that every company in the company of the company in the company of the company in chinery to buy all of their output.

Leeds, had directed all the negotiations which resulted in the merger of the American Tin Plate Company with the steel corporation, and they insisted that every company in the combination or none would have to be taken over.

Jacob Meurer, a Brooklyn jobber and manufacturer of metals, was the only other witness of the day.

Indians Mourning Burning of Dead

GUTHRIE, Okta., May 14.—Squads of the Euchee bands of Creek Indians are engaged in a mourning ceremonial be-cause the bones of papooses buried in hollow trees have been burned by white settlers. With solemn dances, fasting, and incantations the women have inau-gurated their "weeks of weeping." The mourning will last more than a month. For many years the Euchees have huried their dead children in hellow trees, fastening bands of bark over the trees, fastening bands of bark over the openings in the tree trunks to seal the graves. The whites have purchased the Creek land belonging the Euchee bands, and in clearing them settlers cut down the grave trees and burned them.

The best methods of inducing the copulace to attend church was the heme of the talks made at the openng meeting of the Evangelistic Council of the Seventh Day Adventist ministers from the Middle Atlantic nd New England States at Takoma Park today. The Rev. A. G. Daniels, president of the general conference,

This is the first meeting of its kind ever held by the Adventists.

The ministers went on record as opposing sensational methods of attracting audiences. Posters and advertisements used by various churches nn inviting persons to attend their services, were exhibited, and criticised. A uniform method to be pursued in inviting persons to church, is to be adopted. Evangelists K. C. Russell, of Chicagp; R. E. Harter, of Philadelphia, and A. V. Not to Be Part of Red Cross Reception Tonight.

No pearly gates are standing ajar, nor mmertelles blooming for the regiment of little gelatin soldiers which the Red Cross delegates had been led to believe would be blown up at the million-dollar McLean mansion in Massachusetts avenue tonight.

A thousand pounds of dynamite have been sent in to Washington, the delegates had been led to believe, which was to be placed in the back yard of the mansion, and small mines set off, which would blow the little gelatin figures to atoms, and incidentally show the delegates some of the horrors of war, even of the imitation variety.

How the report got circulation, Edward B. McLean, who will be the host o the delegates tonight, does not know. "That much dynamite," he said, "would blow half of Washington off the map. True it is that little exhibits will be constructed tonight, but nothing like dynamite will play a part in the denonstrations.

The report that real mines would be exploded was taken literally by many of the delegates, who expressed themselves today as being afraid to attend

Within a week or two the underlying skin, youthful and beautiful to behold, has taken the place of the discarded cuticle. So little of the old skin is absorbed each day there's no inconvenience at all, and no one suspects you are putting anything on your face.
